BARON PLANS HIS WEDDING BY RADIO.

When the liner George Washington was nearing New York Captain Harold Cunningham received a wireless message, asking if he would officiate at a wedding at Quarantine. The message was from Baron Adelbert von Gontard, grandson of Adolphus Busch, millionaire St. Louis brewer, who boarded the liner from a customs boat to greet his fiancée, Baroness Susanne von Schilling. As the liner was in territorial waters a license was necessary, so the wedding was delayed. Then the Baron wirelessly the New York City Marriage License Bureau to keep open until the ship docked. This was done, the license issued, and the wedding solemnized. The Baron intends to become an American citizen.

only two members of the board, which numbers five, at Ketchikan.

There were eight applicants for dental examinations, five of whom passed the test. Those who met the requirements of the examination were Floyd H. Tiff, Colfax, Wash.; O. H. Whaley, St. Johns, Wash.; Frank T. Hoelscher, Seattle; R. M. McKenzie, Victoria and R. N. Scruby, of Kansas City.

It is probable that these men will locate at various places in Alaska and set up their practice.

Dr. Kaser stated that it was not decided when another examination will be held.

STRONG EASTERN CAPITAL BACKS NITRATE PLANT of the deal, however, had been withheld pending settlement of certain details which, it is now indicated, have been disposed of satisfactorily. Neither had anything to add to the announcement.

Mr. Thane who has been devoting his time almost entirely to the project for the past 16 months, visiting Japan, England, and the east, returned to San Francisco about ten days ago where it is believed he met Mr. Troy who was also visiting there. The former returned at once to New York. Mr. Gaston said he could not say definitely when Mr. Thane expected to come north.

Big Capital Interested
Frederick Pope, who has swung the deal, is President of the Ammonia Corporation which owns heavy nitrate manufacturing interests in the States and controls the Niagara Ammonia concern among others. He was first interested by Mr. Thane about a year ago when the latter, after making an exhaustive survey and report with Japanese engineers representing Mitsui & Co., the biggest of Japan's financial and industrial concerns, went to New York with these engineers to interview bondholders and others interested in the Alaska Gasline. In March, this year, A. G. Griest, Chief Engineer for the Pope companies, spent two weeks here in a personal examination of the property involved and local field conditions. At that time he declined to make any statement regarding his company's plans but intimated his report would be favorable and coincide with that prepared by Mr. Thane and the Japanese engineers.

Since that time Mr. Thane has been engaged in straightening out technical matters, lining up bondholders and generally in active charge of the negotiations. It was necessary for him to go both to England and Belgium during that time. Much of the time he has spent in New York and Boston.

Preparat For Transfer

It was known several weeks ago that the deal was making very favorable progress. At that time certain papers and records were prepared here at the request of Mr. Thane and sent to him in New York. These indicated that negotiations had virtually reached the final stage.

The announcement of early developments, which was bulletined by The Empire this morning, was received by local business men and citizens generally with much enthusiasm. The predominant note was one of praise for Mr. Thane's persistence and untiring work which all agreed was the main factor in the gratifying outcome.

Dr. E. H. Kaser returned on the Jefferson yesterday morning from Ketchikan, where he has been attending a meeting of the Territorial Dental Board, of which he is President.

Dr. Kaser reported that there were dry seasoned mill wood, 18 inch length. Juneau Transfer.

TRAP CONDEMNED BY JUDGE REED

Court Confiscates Trap of Sunrise Packing Co. and Orders its Sale.

The fish trap of the Sunrise Packing Co., of Ketchikan, seized several days ago on a charge of Sunday fishing and against which confiscation proceedings were started under the new Alaska Fisheries law, has been condemned and ordered sold by Judge T. M. Reed, according to advices received by U. S. Attorney A. G. Shoup. This is the first time in the history of Alaska's fishing industry that this particular kind of gear has been condemned.

It was not known whether the company would appeal from the Court's order. The action was heard before Judge T. M. Reed last week at Ketchikan. The Court has finished its work there for the present and is returning home on the steamer Yukon. It will return to Ketchikan in a few days to convene a regular term for which both grand and petit jury panels have been drawn.
